Miracle twins are awake and happy

By CLAIRE HARVEY

THIS is the picture we've been waiting for — miracle twin Trishna yesterday with the bandages gone, her eyes open and a life ahead of her. With her little arm around Dorothy the Dinosaur and just a hint of a smile, Trishna was awake and alert. Her sister, Krishna, opened her eyes for the first time late on Friday night, having taken 24-hours longer than her sister to wake from a medically induced coma at Melbourne's Royal Children's Hospital. The conjoined twins were separated during a marathon 32-hour operation last Monday and Tuesday. Yesterday, Krishna smiled and blew a raspberry to her guardian, Moira Kelly, who said: "The whole hospital is smiling." Full report Page 5

Another Dior will open

CHARLOTTE Smith, the owner of Australia's biggest private vintage-clothing collection, has just released Dreaming of Dior, a beautifully illustrated book documenting some of the 5000-odd dresses she inherited from her American godmother.

Smith was a teacher at the ESMOD fashion school, which has shut its doors under growing debts. Her collection had been on display at the school but needs to find a new home.

"I'm in talks with two other schools," Smith said last week.

Stateside Lola

SHE'S become more known for her involvement in all-female love triangles than her modelling, but Lola Van Vorst (pictured) is gearing up for a stint in the US.

The former Australia's Next Top Model contestant last week shot a new campaign for Chrissy L, an Australian jewellery label which was just picked up in the US by Macy's department stores.

Van Vorst said she was now looking at pursuing her modelling career overseas.

"The fact I'll be seen in the US in Macy's stores is a huge opportunity and one which might see me head stateside to look at possibilities there," she says.

Bling with bite

SHOE designer Karine Emanouel has created a pair of stilettos made from cane toad skin that sell for $540.

"Cane toad is very similar to snake skin, but I wanted to do something different while also helping the environment," she says.

Even more bizarre is Polly van der Glas's latest jewellery collection, which uses human teeth (pictured) and hair.

Visit www.karineemanouel.com.au and www.vanderglas.com.au if you dare to wear them.

Hepburn treasures

VARIOUS items from Audrey Hepburn's (pictured) very own wardrobe are being auctioned off this weekend, including her wedding dress.

She never got to wear it (she called off her marriage to industrialist James Hanson), but it's just one of the items up for grabs over the next month through London's Kerry Taylor Auctions, with others through Sotheby's in New York.

Victoria Beckham is one star expected to buy up big at the London auction, which is offering up vintage Givenchy gowns and other designer garb worn by the actress in many of her iconic films, including War And Peace and Love In The Afternoon.

At Myer no more

CARLA Zampatti and Bianca Spender (pictured) won't be available from Myer after the autumn/winter 2010 collections drop next year.

Zampatti and her daughter have secured an exclusive deal with David Jones, it was announced on Thursday.

"Bianca's a very talented young designer now establishing her own label in her own right, and we're looking to really promote Bianca as a separate entity from Carla's business," Colette Garnsey, from David Jones, told me on Thursday. "She's got her own point of view and designer's style, and I think she's really ready for it now."

Hot Buy

TONI&GUY has just launched its first ever electrical hair range into Australia, and it looks as funky as many of their salon staff.

The straightener comes in three shades: pink, blue and red, and the hairdryer has an iPod-style button and digital LED display.

The range is sold exclusively at Priceline, but best of all, each product is under $90.

Toni&Guy Super Sleek Straightener, $59.99 and 2000W Joystick Control Dryer, $89.95. For stockists visit www.priceline.com.au

Mini Trend:

PERHAPS they're designed to ward off enamoured male fans, but methinks featuring scary animals on your top or frock is simply the celeb trend du jour.

M.I.A. never backs down from a crazy trend, so nobody was shocked to see the rapper sporting a great white on her blue Jean-Charles de Castelbajac dress at the Jimmy Choo H&M launch party last month.

Whatever your taste, Topshop has a great range of mad animal pieces, like this black tiger print tank for about $32. Visit www.topshop.com.
